

Abdallah Zabian

Offering Leader and General Manager, Security, Asia

Abdallah Zabian is the Offering Leader and General Manager for Security at DXC Technology in Asia, with overall responsibility for the security practice in the region.

Prior to this, he held the role of General Manager, Enterprise Security Services for Middle East & Africa at Hewlett Packard Enterprise's Enterprise Services business (HPE ES) – which merged with Computer Science Corporation to create DXC Technology in April 2017.

Abdallah has been in the industry for the last 14+ years, holding numerous leadership roles in the United States, Middle East, Africa and Asia. He has also led several practices in the security industry, in the fields of Consulting, Managed Security Services as well as Advisory. This combined experience gives him a unique global view on security, as well as the ability to look at security holistically, across multiple domains and industries.
