

Job Title: Salesforce/Implementation Engineer

Background:

DXC Technology is the world's leading independent, end-to-end IT services and solutions company, helping customers harness the power of innovation to thrive. We are also a leader in Digital Transformation space, looking to hire "Stars" who would like to experience large scale Digital Transformation projects to drive the Japan business. We are looking for new talent to help us through this journey of growth in Japan.

Key Responsibilities

Provide support in the solution development and architecture and management processes. Interfaces with business developers, account managers, competency managers, and executive management on the solution development to increase company productivity and profits.

Key Requirements

- Autonomous, multi-tasking and flexible
- Can communicate clearly and concisely with diverse audiences, in both oral and written contexts
- Language: Japanese fluent, English business level in oral and writing is a must
- Decision maker
- Enthusiastic with an "I can do" attitude.
- Team player
- 1+ years of experience in Salesforce solutioning, implementation, or development.
- Hands-on experience in Force.com platform.
- Hands-on experience in working with Lightning and design components / Web Components.
- Good experience in Salesforce configuration, security and mapping features to the business requirements.
- Experience in implementing integration solutions between CRM, ERP and Financial systems.
- Strong documentation skills